Ben Gordon Turns Reins Of City Over To Mayor Thurman I. Miller

New Executive Says First Day 'Little Boring'

Thurman Miller, who became Circleville's new mayor as whistles and bells heralded the new year Wednesday midnight, started out his tour of duty quietly and without fanfare.

He and Mrs. Miller were in their home at 118 West Ohio street by about 10:30 p. m. Wednesday. They had accepted no invitation to join any horn-blowing celebration.

Instead, they spent from 10:30 until midnight "toasting our shins right here at home."

The new mayor was up at 8 a. m. New Year's Day "feeling fresh and raring to go," he reported. The chief executive of Pickaway County's seat had no bleary eyes, no fur-coated tongue.

THERE WAS a light breakfast and a trip down to the city building where Mayor Miller readied himself for business.

None appeared. He peeked into his little radio shop on West Main street. It, too, was quiet. Thence back to the Miller abode on West Ohio and noon lunch.

The afternoon slipped away quietly and still there were no official duties for the more-than-willing new mayor to perform.

Came nightfall and Mayor Miller returned to his office in the city building.

And it was at that time, 20 hours after he had donned the mayor's cloak of office, that

Banks Get Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—Preston Delano, comptroller of the currency, today issued a "bank call," instructing all national banks to report their financial condition as of Dec. 31, 1947.

The new year brings us the abdication of King Michael, Henry Wallace and possibly Joe Louis.

Michael quit his throne for the woman he loved and Henry quit the Democrats for the man of whom he is most fond.

Michael couldn't marry Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma and remain king of Romania and as between Bourbon and Romania he chose Bourbon—no commoner could do less.

Modern Smiths Need Brains, Too

COLUMBUS, Jan. 2—Things sure have changed. Time was when all a blacksmith needed was a heavy set of muscles. Now Ohio's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation Chief, Frank J. Collopy, says he also needs a knowledge of how to handle steam, electricity, or compressed air. That's how the Mighty Smiths do their hammering these days. Collopy says there are seven blacksmithing jobs open in such spots as Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Lima.

Martin Boomed As Compromise GOP Candidate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—Rep. Allen (R) Ill., influential house leader, today advanced Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts as "the natural compromise candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination as GOP national headquarters sought complete party harmony.

The chairman of the powerful house rules committee, a personal friend of the speaker, expressed the belief that Martin "stands a good chance of winning the nomination at Philadelphia."

Allen's remarks were made as Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican National Committee moved for party accord by formally renouncing policy-making as a function of the GOP headquarters.

Reece has been criticized by some Republican senators, including Aiken and Flanders of Vermont, Baldwin of Connecticut and Smith of New Jersey, for attacking the Democratic

Doctor Rushing To Churchill

LONDON, Jan. 2—Mrs. Winston Churchill, accompanied by Lord Moran, personal physician of the wartime British prime minister, and Lady Moran, left by airplane today for Morocco where Churchill has been sojourning.

Although the Churchill household said that the visit is in accordance with pre-arranged plans that the party would join the statesman for the latter part of his African vacation, it is understood that the flight was arranged suddenly.

Lack of an approved institutional on-farm training instructor at Commercial Point in Scioto township has delayed the opening of what will be Pickaway County's seventh GI farm training school.

The proposed new school, which was scheduled to open in December, will provide instruction for 25 additional approved farm training students in the Scioto township area, according to James T. Shea, county veterans service officer.

Preference is given to disabled veterans who come under Public Law 16.

A financial squabble between two schools in Jackson township and the Veterans Administration may further hinder the opening date for the new farm training program at Commercial Point, the service officer disclosed.

THE DIFFERENCE arises from a tightening of financial reins in Washington.

Outgoing Chief Says He Feels 'Relieved' Now

Ben Gordon, who in 1941 was sworn in as the youngest (39) mayor in Circleville's history, took it easy New Year's Day—he was a free man, just an ordinary citizen again.

He had served six years as the city's chief executive, refused to seek reelection last Fall and Wednesday midnight turned the reins of the city over to the new mayor, Thurman Miller.

Other than standing by with "fatherly advice" should the new mayor call upon him, Gordon's appearances in the city building in the future will be only that of the ordinary resident.

Gordon prepared no official ceremony for relinquishing his title. He allowed the hands of the clock to turn and signify the end of his term in office. Meanwhile, he and Mrs. Gordon joined a confetti and horn-toting crowd to greet the new year.

NEW YEAR'S Day saw Citizen Gordon, the ex-mayor, allowing nature to take its course in indoctrinating him back into the life of the non-officialholder.

"I'm pretty well relieved," he commented.

His last official duty had an ironical twist.

Two common drunks had appeared before his last session of court the day before. One of them was accompanied by the man who was the first defendant to stand before Gordon's bar of justice back in 1941. Old memories and old acquaintances failed to change procedure even as Gordon banged his gavel for the last time. The last drunk heard the same verdict as did the first: "The court finds the defendant guilty. $10 and costs."

His first day in office in 1941 started at about 6 a. m. and ended approximately 18 hours later, Gordon recalled.

"It was a hectic day," he said. "I didn't know if I were coming or going and I would have sold out that night for a nickel."

But leaving office left Gordon

Record Set

TOKYO, Jan. 2—Tokyo headquarters of the U. S. Fifth Air Force disclosed today that Lt. John B. Chickering of New York City has flown a P-80 at an average ground speed of 780 miles per hour.

The government demands all excess funds accrued during the year be used by the school boards before additional allotments can be issued by the VA.

Shea said the ruling was reasonable, but pointed out that during the last year, the VA was often late in sending their checks to the school boards. This resulted in school officials digging money from their own tills to pay instructors and foot other bills.

School officials in Jackson township want permission to hold in reserve some unused funds to carry them over periods when the government is slow in forwarding checks.

Franc Value Slash Seen; French Panel Plans Trip To U. S.

New Ratio Of 250 To 1 Dollar Predicted; Tax Bill Scuttled

PARIS, Jan. 2—An official French delegation will leave for Washington tomorrow to discuss possible partial devaluation of the franc.

The delegation is reportedly carrying a plan which will establish an "export franc" of about half the value of the domestic franc.

Pierre Mendes-France, Radical Socialist deputy and financial authority, will head the delegation. He represented France at the Bretton Woods conference on monetary stabilization.

The plan which he will discuss with United States officials is designed to stimulate sale of French products in the "hard money" areas.

measure would bring "insufficient results."

Moch went so far as to say that at any point on which the assembly refuses to endorse the government's new proposals a vote of confidence will be asked.

Amendments excluded certain categories of peasants from payment of the new special taxes.

THE PRESENT pegged value of the franc at about 120 to the dollar has made import of most items into the United States prohibitively expensive.

The new plan is said to call for the creation of a new ratio of 250 or 260 francs to the dollar for export purposes.

The domestic value of the franc would remain unchanged, thus allowing the government to skirt the political quicksands of full devaluation.

At the same time the French government withdrew its plan for a super-tax on incomes to stem inflation.

The plan was passed recently by the national assembly and the council of the republic.

Premier Robert Schuman went before the assembly to announce personally that the government was withdrawing the plan for balancing the budget which was formulated by Finance Minister Rene Mayer.

Premier Schuman declared that the government will submit a new compromise tax plan which it will not agree to modify.

HE SAID HE will stake the political existence of his government on the new bill, on which discussion is to start immediately.

The government objected to a series of modifications which were forced in the original bill by deputies of the extreme Left and Right.

After a special cabinet meeting, Interior Minister Jules Moch revealed that the government had decided to withdraw the Mayer plan because the amended versions voted by the assembly on the financial recovery

William James Bradley, 50, of Mansfield, Route 1, was admitted to Berger hospital at 7 p. m. Thursday for head and hip injuries received when he was struck by a car four miles north of Circleville on State Route 23. His condition is reported good.

Driver of the car, Harry Matheny, 24, of Sciotoville, told Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff he was blinded by lights of an oncoming vehicle and failed to see the pedestrian.

Bradley was walking north along the highway and the auto was headed south when the accident occurred. The injured man was removed to the hospital in a Defenbaugh ambulance.

SENTIMENTAL AXIS TIE

Tojo Says Japs Did Not Covet Philippines, India

TOKYO, Jan. 2—Former Premier Hideki Tojo claimed today that Japan never cast covetous eyes on the Philippines, India and Burma until after the outbreak of the Pacific war.

The three countries, he declared in another day of testimony in his own defense, were not considered before the Pearl Harbor attack to be part of Japan's "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere."

The bald-pated erstwhile warlord listed Japan, Manchuria, China, Thailand (Siam), French Indo-China and The Netherlands East Indies as the countries the Japanese government meant in July, 1940, when it referred to "embracing the whole of Greater East Asia."

Under cross-examination by Chief Allied Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan at the Tokyo war crimes trial, Tojo also refused to admit that the making of war is in itself a criminal act.

HE REITERATED his contention that Japan was bound only "sentimentally" to its European Axis partners, Germany and Italy. He insisted:

"Politically, the basis of our national policy was our own national interest."

At another point in his testimony, the Pearl Harbor premier denied that his cabinet's renovation of the educational system in 1940 constituted "thought control." He maintained it was aimed at saving students from what he called a "wave of Communist thought then sweeping Japan."

After Tojo had denied his conception of Japan's projected sphere of influence, Keenan asked him about Malaya.

He admitted he had "forgotten" to mention that territory among those over which Japan claimed hegemony. Asked about Australia, Tojo replied:

"That doesn't come in."

The ex-premier told Keenan: "With the passage of time, the meaning of the phrase 'Greater East Asia' changed, especially after the outbreak of

High Winds Still Raging Eastward

Tornadoes Bring Death To 23

By International News Service The midwest and the south counted their loss today in at least 46 deaths, hundreds injured, millions of dollars in damage and snarled traffic and communication lines in the wake of tornadoes and severe sleet and snow storms over the New Year holidays.

The storms still were raging today throughout the midwest and were moving on toward the Atlantic seaboard, already hard hit by a record-breaking snowstorm of last week.

A weather bureau forecast said the storm probably would reach the east coast sometime tonight.

But even as this storm rolled eastward, a sleet and rain storm pelted the New York area and created new hazards for the millions of metropolitan residents. The rain froze almost immediately, making driving difficult, walking even worse and hitting both communications and electric power systems.

EIGHT TO 12 inches of snow are predicted for the New England area during the day. The forecast was made in a special weather bureau bulletin which said the present rain and sleet storm there will change to snow before the end of the day.

At least 23 persons were dead in the wake of a series of tornadoes that swept through the Southern Mississippi valley New Year's Eve.

A death toll of 14 was counted in the wreck of two trains near Syracuse, Mo., during a driving sleet and snow storm yesterday. Two other bodies still were believed to be pinned under the wreckage.

Among the dead were Alexander W. Weddell, 71, of Richmond, Ga., former U. S. ambassador to Spain and Argentina, and his wife, Virginia.

Weathermen Say Ohio Returning To Winter Par

By International News Service The Ohio weather was returning to what forecasters described as "normal" today following one of the worst ice and sleet storms in several years.

Strong winds and heavy rain also added to the severity of the storm, particularly in Northwestern Ohio where communities were only getting normalcy today.

Ice, forming on utility lines, disrupted electric service. Bowling Green, Napoleon and other places were virtually isolated during the height of the storm which put a coat of gleaming, treacherous ice over everything. The main power line between Pemberville and Toledo was broken by the accumulation of ice.

In addition to ice in the Pemberville and Toledo area, strong winds swept Lake Erie waters into cottages and 15 families had to be rescued by police and fire departments.

THE SOUTHERN portion of Ohio had heavy rain during New Year's Day, but above freezing temperatures spared the area from the ice assault.

Weather bureau forecasters said that temperatures were scheduled to go below freezing again today as a mass of cold air moved into Ohio from the west. He predicted snow flurries for most of the state through tomorrow.

The state department of highways reported roads normal only in the north central, east and southeast portions, with slippery conditions existing in the balance of the state.

GI Farm Training Program Hitting Snags

Lack of an approved institutional on-farm training instructor at Commercial Point in Scioto township has delayed the opening of what will be Pickaway County's seventh GI farm training school.

The proposed new school, which was scheduled to open in December, will provide instruction for 25 additional approved farm training students in the Scioto township area, according to James T. Shea, county veterans service officer.

Preference is given to disabled veterans who come under Public Law 16.

A financial squabble between two schools in Jackson township and the Veterans Administration may further hinder the opening date for the new farm training program at Commercial Point, the service officer disclosed.

The government demands all excess funds accrued during the year be used by the school boards before additional allotments can be issued by the VA.

lated by Shea who said the VA would not agree to pay the electric light bills in the schools beyond the two hours utilized in class rooms only.

In other words, he said, lights in the school shops, hallways, toilets and outside lamps needed for safety were excluded from payment by VA officials. These bills were to be footed by the local school board in Jackson township, VA officials said.

statement in St. Louis which stated that the accident was apparently due to "flagrant negligence on the part of certain employees."

Officials of the road said the snow and sleet apparently had "fouled" the signal system. A spokesman explained:

"When such a thing occurs, all signals immediately turn red. Trains are supposed to stop and not move unless a flagman proceeds on foot ahead of it. That, quite apparently, was not done."

The Chicago area which suffered one of the worst sleet and snow storms in its history New Year's Day listed at least nine traffic deaths due to storm.

Devastating tornadoes and less severe storms struck five Southern states—Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama.

Hardest hit were two small towns in Northwestern Louisiana, Cotton valley and Haynesville.

At least 18 persons were killed, more than 70 hospitalized and hundreds made homeless by the tornadoes that slashed a 100-mile path through Louisiana and South Central Arkansas.

FOUR OTHERS were killed and more than a score injured in a series of storms in Shelby County, Tenn. Another man was killed when a violent wind slashed through Houston, Miss.

Jimmie Mundell, International News Service special photographer who flew over the storm area, said Cotton Valley appeared from the air as if the town had been shelled by heavy artillery.

The cameraman reported that lumber, debris and trees were scattered over a wide area. He said trees were uprooted as if dug from the ground and carried long distances by the wind.

In one part of the town, Mundell saw a family trying to cook a meal in their wrecked home as the walls lay outward on the ground. The cook stove and some furniture remained in position in the house.

The Louisiana tornado was described as a weather freak. Weather bureau officials said that such a storm was rarely in mid-Winter.

A cold wave moved into the area in the wake of the storm, with a low of 20 degrees forecast for today.

Strong winds lashed the Montgomery, Ala., area New Year's morning, causing some damage to buildings and toppling telephone poles. However, no one was reported injured there.

ALL HIGHWAYS throughout the Chicago area, Illinois, Indiana and Northern Kentucky were reported dangerous to motorists.

Even the birds couldn't fly today in the wind-lashed Illinois storm because of icing on their wings.

Moline airport officials said the wings of birds were so heavily coated with sleet they were forced down to a walk.

Dog Blamed In Child's Death

SEATTLE, Jan. 2—A female German shepherd dog was blamed today for dragging one-month-old Priscilla Ann May from her crib and fatally biting her.

Master Sgt. Robert May, stationed at nearby Fort Lawton, said he found the baby dead at their home near Seattle. He said he had let the shepherd in the house after it broke out of the garage on New Year's Eve.

with pleasant memories, he said.

One of his prime ambitions as he entered office in 1941 was to see Circleville acquire title to water facilities. That was accomplished last year.

Gordon, who had served four terms as councilman-at-large before becoming mayor, had been a constant booster for the establishment of a city park.

THIS BECAME a reality during Gordon's administration. The area, named in honor of the city's most famous son, is Ted Lewis Park. He saw the project grow from an independent movement, originated by the late Frank Lynch, into the 13-acre tract which now includes lighting facilities, a shelterhouse, playground equipment and a surplus fund of about $3,500.

Gordon recalls that when he took office, the city was "in the red" financially. Circleville's bank balance was so slim in 1941 that Gordon was forced to buy his own office equipment.

The city had no street lights during the first several months of Gordon's administration. The city treasury was in arrears in paying its electric power bills.

Finally, they were turned on as Gordon and other city officials reached an agreement with the power company permitting Circleville to pay part of the back amount along with current bills.

Gordon recalled that as a city councilman he had opposed the installation of parking meters here on the theory that the devices would drive away trade.

But, as he left office Wednesday he declared that the meters had much to do with bolstering city finances and that he now believes "they are a good thing."

THE OUTGOING Mayor said his administration saw the abolishment of diagonal parking and that the city received a warm pat on the back from state highway and safety officials.

Gordon's administration was not colorful, but evidence shows it was solid. He admits there are a "lot of things we needed and still need" but he leaves the mayor's office with a personal feeling that his was a job well done.

Taft Says GOP Hurting Brother

CINCINNATI, Jan. 2—The "total inadequacy" of the Cincinnati Republican organization was branded by Councilman Charles P. Taft (R) today as one of the greatest hardships imposed on the "political fortunes" of his brother, U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Later, Miller announced that John C. Bolender, 228 East Mound street, would be the city's new safety director.

All in all, the day was "pretty boring," the new mayor reported.

But he said he realizes that the road ahead will be a long one, packed with chuckholes and sharp turns.

Fun Seekers Greet New Year In Various Forms Of Recreation

Parties, Dances Welcome 1948

"That new look of 1948," in an array of colorful satins and the swish of taffeta gowns, added charm to the New Year's Eve festive dances staged in the Elks club and Memorial hall.

Both dance floors were crowded to capacity with revelers, who were celebrating the arrival of 1948. When the whistles blew and the bells rang out the old year and the new entered in, the din from the fun seekers was deafening.

Jimmy Franck and his orchestra from Columbus presented melodies for the annual New Year's Eve dance sponsored by the American Legion in Memorial hall. For the occasion, the hall was artistically decorated and refreshments were dispensed the entire evening.

Members of the Elks club and their out-of-county guests danced to the music of Ollie Harris in the club ballroom. Breakfast was served at the conclusion of the dance and party by Jimmie Carpenter and his crew of helpers.

There were noise makers and hats for the crowd of revelers at both frolics and souvenirs in keeping with New Year celebrations.

The Pickaway Country Club was the setting of watch parties when several of the members and their out-of-county guests assembled in the club house for an informal evening of games and refreshments.

Many out-of-town guests and former residents of Circleville were noted among the guests at a "night of nights" social affairs, while several cocktail parties preceded the dances in homes of local residents.

Marriage Told At New Year's Eve Social Event

Barbara Ann Helwage has been Mrs. Harold B. Stonerock since November 14, 1947, when she and Mr. Stonerock exchanged nuptial vows in Greenup, Kentucky. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Helwage, North Pickaway street, and Paul Helwage of Columbus, while her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stonerock, of Chillicothe.

The Rev. C. E. Muncy officiated for the single ring ceremony in the parsonage of the Methodist church. The new couple was attended by William Byers and Miss Monna Lee Hanley, Circleville.

The new Mrs. Stonerock was graduated by Circleville high school and attended the Columbus Art School, and is a member of Sigma Phi Gamma sorority. The bridegroom attended school in Chillicothe and is associated with the J. H. Butts company of that city.

The announcement was made at a cocktail party given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Helwage, on New Year's Eve preceding the dance in the post room of Memorial hall.

Gifts Exchanged

Names of the "mystery sisters" were revealed during an exchange of gifts when members of the Pleasant View Ladies Aid met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Lowell Poling, Lancaster. A covered-dish luncheon was served.

NOW IN the second grade, 7-year-old Lorraine Judith Sadowski of Reading, Pa., still requires three or four bananas a day to combat chronic intestinal disease. When the banana diet was prescribed five years ago a nation-wide appeal was made to obtain the war-scarce fruit. Since then Lorraine's mother estimates that the child has consumed approximately 6,500 bananas. (International)

Four Generations At Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hardman of Salt Creek Valley were hosts at a covered-dish dinner in their home to all their children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. One grandson, Pvt. Gifts were exchanged and pictures were taken around a lighted Christmas tree of the four generations of Hardmans.

Michigan's Big Grid Machine Wins Roses, U. S. Title

Wolves Rap USC, 49-0, To Top ND

East All-Stars Win Shrine Tilt

By International News Service
The nation's collegiate football title, an honor generally lent to Notre Dame, shifted with cold finality today to a tremendous Michigan team.

While 93,000 pale and shaken Pacific Coast stars stared in awful comprehension, Fritz Crisler's Wolverines trod the storied Rose Bowl gridiron with the cleats of doom.

They smashed Southern California 49 to 0, thus making the vanquished Trojans one and the same with Pittsburgh and Northwestern.

These three teams suffered the utter misfortune of playing both Notre Dame and Michigan this season—but unbeaten Michigan beat all three worse than unbeaten Notre Dame did.

NORTHWARD on the Pacific Coast there was shock and grieving too. A team of East All-Stars, favored by a touchdown, massaged the West eleven, 40 to 9, in San Francisco's renewal of the honored Shrine game, benefits of which are directed to hospitals for crippled children.

The day's second largest crowd—73,000 sat in on the projected passing duel of Texas' Bobby Layne and Alabama's Harry Gilmer in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. It was no contest after the half.

Sparked by the versatile antics of Layne, the Texas Longhorns, favored by seven points, scored 20 in the final half to win going away, 27 to 7.

Southern Methodist, a touchdown favorite, got off to a 13-0 lead behind the work of All-America Doak Walker in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex.

But Penn State, champ of the east, struck back hard to gain a 13-to-13 tie before 48,000 fans. The result preserved the undefeated skeins of both elevens.

Georgia Tech, a 10-point choice, sweat a plenty before subduing Kansas, 20 to 14, before the largest crowd ever to see a football game in Florida—close to 60,000 in Miami's Orange Bowl.

In the inaugural Delta Bowl game at Memphis, Tenn., Mississippi, a touchdown favorite, had to do all of its scoring in the fourth period, with Chuckin' Charlie Conerly hurling two touchdown passes for a shaky 13 to 9 triumph over Texas Christian.

GEORGIA was favored to smear Maryland in the 'Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., but had to settle for a 20-20 tie, while in the Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Ala., Arkansas, a six-point choice, had to push over a fourth-period score to nip William and Mary, 21 to 19.

In the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Miami of Ohio preserved its unbeaten record with a shivery 13 to 12 win over Texas Tech.

College of the Pacific banged Wichita, 26 to 14, in the Raisin Bowl at Fresno, Cal., while in the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Hardin-Simmons overwhelmed San Diego State, 53 to 0.

Favored Nevada managed to trip North Texas State in the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz., 13 to 6.

In the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla., undefeated Missouri Valley ran its winning streak to 32 straight games with a 26 to 7 victory over previously-unbeaten West Chester (Pa.) Teachers.

Among other scores: Texas State 12, Prairie View 0 in the Prairie View game at Houston, Tex.; Samuel Huston 7, Philander Smith 0 in the Cattle Bowl at Fort Worth, Tex.; Catawba 7, Marshall 0 in the Tangerine

MICHIGAN'S FOOTBALL STARS, like all husky athletes, like their food—and plenty of it—especially if they have just won a Rose Bowl game as well as undisputed title to the national collegiate grid championship. Above are three of Michigan's stars who led the way as the Wolverines smashed the University of Southern California, 49-0, in the New Year's Day battle in the Rose Bowl. Upper left is All-America Bob Chappuis. Upper right shows the two Elliotts—Pete, left, and Bump.

PINT-SIZED GRID PLAY 6-Man Football Teams Eyed By County Schools

Six-man football for Pickaway County's rural high schools is a definite possibility.

A meeting of school officials is scheduled for next Thursday at Monroe township school, where discussion will be held on a report to be submitted by a committee which has been studying adding football to the sports programs.

At the outset, it is improbable that all 11 high schools in the county system can consider football. Half of them cannot produce either sufficient manpower or interest for the miniature brand of gridiron play.

However, a half-dozen schools are interested and it is this group which will determine whether the sport will be undertaken.

PRIMARY bottleneck in the decision is the dollar sign. To outfit a six-man team will take an estimated $500 before a school can find a squad. But to make that squad pay for itself and not be a rider on the coattails of already-established basketball is the main blockade.

Wiberforce 'H' Gets Bowl Toga

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 2—The Wiberforce Green Wave headed back home to Ohio today with a 27-21 victory over the Grambling Tigers in Birmingham's Vulcan Bowl.

Grambling came back from a 21-14 deficit at the half to throw the game into a 21-21 deadlock, but Wiberforce drove 90 yards to a last-quarter tally, with full-back Charlie Mahoney carrying the pigskin over from the one-foot line.

Ernie Plank Gets Credit For Miami Win

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 2—A big guy named Ernie Plank, who plays tackle for Miami University of Ohio's football team, stood today as sole and just cause for the Redskins' shaky 13 to 12 victory over Texas Tech in the 13th annual Sun Bowl game.

To make football pay for itself in this county, games could not draw reasonable crowds except at night contests. That means lighting fixtures. And those—if they are available—come with large price tags attached.

Football for the county's high schools—at least a few of them—would be a definite asset to the training of athletes.

NO SCHOOL official doubts that angle. But adding that sport to the program hinges on the money angle.

It is not an impossible situation. Next Thursday's conference will reveal detailed thought and planning and, possibly, an announcement that at long last Pickaway county's rural high schools will be playing the gridiron sport.

A 24-yard touchdown run with a loose ball by Bernie Winkler of Texas Tech led to Brown's futile try for the deadlock.

A crowd of 16,000 saw Miami rack up the third victory in as many Sun Bowl tries for a team from the Mid-American conference.

Statistics were all in favor of the Ohio team, which used its tricky "T" offense to run up 414 yards rushing to Tech's 227.

Rickey Seen Taking Over Grid Bums

Football Dodgers Said Good Bet

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—The biggest boost ever received by the All-America Football conference is expected during the next few days in the form of an announcement that Branch Rickey has taken over control of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The significance of such a move traces to the obvious fact that Rickey foresees success for the new pro circuit which last season made an impressive bid for recognition against the firmly entrenched National League.

If the deal is formally announced as expected, it means Rickey has read the signs, figured this against that, consulted with football people everywhere, studied graphs and charts and finally has decided that the football Dodgers are better than a gamble.

They will be stamped as a fine business proposition with Rickey gold mine as long as the conference lasts. Rickey's interest in the circuit would indicate that it will last forever.

BROOKLYN and Chicago have been the two weak points in the circuit and both are scheduled to be straightened out before another season rolls around. Brooklyn, in fact, seems to be already all settled and awaiting on Ricky taking over.

The defunct Chicago Rockets were complete and total flops last season and wound up in the hands of the league itself. The

Ancient Bowl Goes To Texas

NEW ORLEANS Jan. 2—The beautiful old solid silver sugar bowl which an English silver-smith pounded out in 1830 went to the state of Texas today for the fourth time in 14 years.

The University of Texas Longhorns, led by Bobby Layne, smashed to a 27 to 7 victory over the University of Alabama Crimson Tide in the 14th renewal of the annual New Year's Day classic.

Turning point in the game was a blocked kick in the third period.

league has two prospective purchasers of the franchise.

Lastest word on the situation is that the Rockets definitely will be in action next season and undoubtedly will still be at Chicago.

This latter angle is surprising, considering that Chicago already has the fabulous Bears and the Champion Cardinals of the National League, and Detroit reportedly wants the Rocket franchise.

The Chicago situation looks like a real headache unless the Rockets are moved away in spite of the league's current insistence on remaining at the scene of the debacle.

Labor Ruling To Get Top Test In '48

Slave Statute To Be Fought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—The Taft-Hartley law was 1947's top labor story and it promises to retain this distinction in the year ahead.

The past 12 months witnessed labor's fight to prevent passage of what it called a "slave" statute, the enactment of Taft-Hartley despite opposition which included a presidential veto, and the launching of a union campaign for the act's repeal.

In 1948, the nation will have an opportunity to gauge the law's effectiveness in maintaining industrial peace. The nation will also see whether labor's political power is great enough to defeat the act's Congressional supporters in next November's election.

The new labor management statute stemmed from the big strikes of 1946 plus the coal crisis which extended well into 1947. But its curbs on unions did not become operative until last year's key labor disputes were settled.

THE REAL TEST of the law will come during the first six months of 1948 as new wage contracts come up for negotiation in the maritime, automobile, steel, electrical, and coal industries.

CIO President Philip Murray already has served notice that the six million members of his organization will seek substantial third-round pay boosts to there may be strikes to back up this demand.

The big question is whether the Taft-Hartley law will promote a peaceful settlement of the forth-coming controversies and enable the nation to maintain uninterrupted production so vital to the domestic economy and the aid-to-Europe program.

Employment and production soared steadily upward to new peaks in 1947, freed of the crippling strikes of the previous year.

A nation-wide telephone walk-out made spectacular headlines last spring but did not seriously damage the national economy. John L. Lewis shut down the coal pits briefly in a protest over mine safety conditions but output was at near record levels for the year.

As usual, however, the United Mine Workers president managed to hold the labor spotlight throughout the year. A legal battle between Lewis and the government raged through the early months of 1947.

SHORTLY BEFORE the year began, Lewis and the UMW were fined three million, 710 thousand dollars for cancellation of the UMW's contract with the government, as operator of the mines, and the subsequent walkout of the miners.

The men went back to the pits while Lewis fought the injunction to the U. S. supreme court. Last Spring the high tribunal upheld the order, reducing the fine to 710 thousand dollars. Lewis lost the battle.

He bounced back a few weeks later, however, with a new mine wage agreement—one of the finest in the UMW's history. "Big Steel" took the lead in negotiating the pact and averting a prolonged summer coal strike after the government released the mines on June 30.

Rural Teachers Getting Average Salary, Claim

Pickaway County's rural teachers are receiving just about the same amount of pay as the rest of the rural teachers in Ohio for the school year of 1947-48, according to figures released by George D. McDowell, county superintendent of schools, Friday.

In an article published in the "Ohio Schools" magazine, T. G. O'Keefe, assistant secretary for research of the Ohio Education Association, stated that the median salary for the rural high school teacher was $2,555, an increase of $530 over last year's salaries.

McDowell's figures show that the average high school teacher in the Pickaway County rural school district earns a salary of $2,592.44, or about $37 more per year than the average.

The elementary teachers of the county do not fare as well as the high school teachers, averaging $2,001 as compared to the state average of $2,137 or $136 less than state average.

Radar Helping Ohio Shipping

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 2—Radar, miracle eye of the war, is now being put to peacetime use for Ohio river shipping.

A small government boat, cruising between Huntington and its base at Louisville, is charting radarscope impressions of the Ohio river. They will be superimposed on outlines of existing navigation charts for the use of radar-equipped vessels.

18 State Jobs To Be Filled By Test Winners

COLUMBUS, Jan. 2—Competitive examinations for 18 different state government jobs—some of them paying $250 and more a month—will be held in seven strategically located cities Thursday through Saturday, Jan. 29-31. Gertrude Jones, chairman of the Ohio Civil Service Commission, announced today.

Those passing the examinations and appointed to state civil service posts will get a legislative increase of at least 18 1/2 percent of their base salaries plus an additional $10 a month if their base pay is not in excess of $3,000 a year.

Civil service jobs, all of which are scheduled to be filled immediately following determination of test results, include openings for qualified nurses, motor vehicle inspectors, auditors, tabulating machine operators, employment service interviewers, prison guards, office assistants and truck drivers.

The major cities in which the tests are to be given are Cincinnati, Cleveland, Athens, Canton, Columbus, Dayton and Toledo. All examinations will start promptly at 9 a. m. of the day for which they are scheduled. Location of the building in which the examination is to be given will appear on the admission card which goes to all persons whose application for such examination has been officially approved by the commission.

U. S. Is Needing More Physicists

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—The United States is faced with an acute shortage of capable young physicists to carry on vital research in atomic energy.

This contention is made in an article in the current issue of the "Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists," by Dr. Edward Teller, professor of physics at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Teller said that the lack of trained personnel was one of the reasons that atomic research has not moved as rapidly in the past two years as it did in the war years.

He noted that during the last two and a half years only a half billion dollars had been spent on atomic research as against two billion during the "frantic" war years.

RATIONING REVIVAL SEEN

'47's Rising Food Prices Nation's Chief Headache

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—Rising food prices were the nation's No. 1 problem in 1947, and government economists predict that even higher prices will give American housewives their biggest headaches in 1948.

In their first post-OPA year, Americans watched the prices of almost all food commodities soar to new record levels despite high farm production and the nation's first peacetime food conservation drive.

Increased food prices figured so importantly in the family budget that President Truman finally urged congress to restore price control and rationing authority.

As a result, the cost of living problem promised to become a big issue in the 1948 presidential elections.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that on Dec. 1 whole-sale food prices were 12.1 percent above the level of a year ago. Retail food prices went up 9.5 percent in the first nine months of 1947.

The upward price trend was stimulated by a steady climb in the prices of grain, meat, dairy products, and other basic commodities. The price of wheat alone soared to the highest point since 1917.

BUSINESS, government and labor disagreed at times on the reasons for the soaring food prices. The price rises were attributed to a poor corn crop, strong foreign relief demands, speculation on commodity markets, and hasty removal of price controls.

But, whatever the reason, the American housewife found that she had turned from food shortages in the final days of price control in 1946 to a situation in 1947 where high prices threatened to curtail her purchases.

Nevertheless, there was at least one bright note in the U. S. good picture in 1947. Americans continued to eat far better than any other people in the world and their average per capita food consumption was only one percent below the 1946 record.

The first indication that food prices were heading upward came in the Agriculture Department's reports in late summer on the 1947 corn crop, biggest U. S. grain harvest.

A prolonged drought in the mid-west damaged the corn crop to such an extent that the 1947 yield dropped to two billion, 447 million bushels — 840 million bushels below the record 1946 output.

This comparatively low yield of corn—the basic livestock feed—contributed to soaring grain prices and helped push meat prices to even higher levels.

DESPITE the small corn crop, American farmers in 1947 continued to maintain their high production of the war years. The total volume of crop output was only one percent below the record average for 1942-46.

Faced with continued world needs and high prices at home, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson urged farmers to keep their production high in 1948. In setting crop goals for 1948, he asked farmers to plant nine million more acres than they did in 1947.

World food conditions remained poor in 1947 and food emerged as an even more important factor in the efforts of the United States to establish a permanent peace.

The U. S. pushed its grain export goal to 570 million bushels, about 20 million bushels above the 1946-47 shipments.

However, President Truman warned in October that the export goal could not be reached without strict food saving in the United States. He then launched the most extensive peacetime food conservation campaign in American history.

THE PRESIDENT set up a Citizens' Food committee, headed by Charles Luckman, to administer a voluntary food saving drive. The Luckman committee immediately called for "meatless Tuesdays" and "eggless and poultryless Thursdays" as grain conservation measures. Industry also joined in the drive. The nation's distillers agreed to shut down for 60 days, and brewers, bakers and poultry raisers promised to adopt grain saving practices. These industries pledged a grain saving of 80 million bushels before the spring of 1948.

Poultryless Thursday was the first failure of the voluntary campaign. After six weeks of existence, the "eat no poultry" day finally was called off by Luckman who soon returned to his $300,000-a-year job as president of Lever Brothers Soap Co.

Sir William Gooch, an English soldier and colonial governor in America, was born at Yarmouth in 1681, and served with distinction in the British army. From 1727 to 1747 he was governor of Virginia. He died in 1751.
